

Apollo builds custom Christchurch branch

27 November 2008

Rental vehicle giant Apollo Motorhome Holidays has confirmed its commitment to New Zealand's economy by investing in a state of the art Christchurch branch. The new branch is several times the size of its predecessor, and is located just 2.5km from the Christchurch International airport.

The 7550m² site is home to purpose built workshop and detailing areas, a deluxe customer service zone and first class sanitary and kitchen facilities. The building was designed to provide unsurpassed customer service to the company's valued clients.

Situated at 24 Logistics Drive, Harewood, the branch is equipped to provide quality rental motorhomes, campervans, cars and 4wds to a loyal clientele. CEO Luke Trouchet said the branch was "a dream come true for Christchurch staff and clients alike,"

"We are very proud of our commitment to New Zealand's tourism industry," he said, "our new branch is indicative of Apollo's continued strength during tough economic conditions." Mr Trouchet said clients and visitors had been very impressed by the quality of the new facilities.

The building also serves as a hub for the company's New Zealand vehicle sales team. Both used and new motorhomes and campervans are available for sale, with a dedicated sales manager on site.

Apollo Motorhome Holidays is the largest privately owned recreational vehicle operator in the Southern Hemisphere with a fleet of over 3000 quality vehicles. The company's 15 branches are situated throughout Australia, New Zealand and the USA.
